[FULL] Mords Pas, On T'aime (1976) . Mords pas, on t'aime (1976) -  $\text{D}\text{i}\text{N}\text{Z}\text{D}^{\frac{3}{4}}\text{D}\text{I}\text{D}\mu\text{N}$ ,: Georges, a trucker, is the single father of young Fr $\text{A}\text{C}\text{D}\text{A}\text{C}$ ric. His job prevents him from seeing his son as often as he could, as often as he should. BroughtAn individual analyte separation for clinical trials on behavioral changes in Alzheimer disease. A disposable hydrodynamic injection device has been developed to permit a single injection of a small volume (5 microl) of a liquid sample onto an I.D. separation column containing monolithic silica stationary phase. In this system, this injection volume is sufficient to separate most of the analytes present in the biological fluid. The column can be directly coupled to a normal-phase HPLC system or a gradient RP-LC system. The compounds, which can be quantitated directly from the chromatograms, include the drugs flunitrazepam and clonazepam, neuropeptides and neurotransmitters such as neurotensin, cholecystokinin, substance P, neuropeptide Y and catecholamines. The detection limits are in the micromole range. The chromatographic performance of the system was studied using artificial mixtures of the analytes. The reproducibility of the retention times was better than 0.1% over a period of 40 injections of a single mixture. The validity of the method was proved in a validation study, where it was shown that the system was linear, precise and accurate over a range of concentrations from 0.1 to 25 microg/ml of the single analytes. The method was evaluated in a study of patients with Alzheimer's disease.

Patients with this disease have alterations of central nervous system dopaminergic and noradrenergic transmission and a cerebrospinal fluid (CSF) dopamine concentration that falls into the dopamine receptor supersensitivity range. In comparison with normal controls, there is an increased CSF level of neuropeptides such as neurotensin and substance P, as well as neurotransmitters such as dopamine and serotonin, in patients with this disease. In the present study, the CSF levels of various neurotransmitters and neuropeptides were measured in Alzheimer's disease and compared to the levels found in normal control subjects. The results show that the
